UI/UX & PRODUCT

Five people broke my onboarding in one afternoon. Best afternoon of the project.

Why I test with five people, not fifty

Five people won’t tell you everything. But they’ll show you the biggest problem almost immediately, and that’s what you need first.

Why I test with five people, not fifty

1. Find five people who actually match your users, not your colleagues.

2. Give one simple task: “Set this up so it’s useful to you.”

3. Watch. Say nothing. The awkward silences are where the lessons are.

4. Fix the top three problems, then do it again.

UI/UX & PRODUCT

Testing isn’t about proving your design works. It’s about finding out where it doesn’t, as early and cheaply as possible.
