BRAND IDENTITY

The hardest part of refreshing a school's brand was deciding what not to change

Philip Nosike · 5 min read

01

A school brand belongs to a lot of people

Former students remember the colours from their uniform. Parents remember the fees page. Current students mostly remember whether the portal let them log in. A brand refresh that only pleases the marketing team won't last a semester.

02

So I went looking for what was already working

I collected everything: signs, social posts, the website, printed forms, the student portal. The name and colours were genuinely recognised. That was worth protecting.

So I went looking for what was already working

1. Kept the colours, but gave them clear rules.
2. Went from four fonts to one family.
3. Gave announcements a proper home, so admission news stops taking over everything.

BRAND IDENTITY

A good refresh makes people think “they got their act together,” not “who is this?”

READ THE FULL STORY

The hardest part of refreshing a school's brand was deciding what not to change

thenoskshade.netlify.app/blog →

Philip Nosike
Product designer · @noskshade